LANDMANN black pearl select:

Kettle barbecue for the sophisticated

Designer barbecue with height-adjustable grill

For sophisticated barbecue fans, a top-class barbecue is now available both as a visual and technical highlight in the garden and on the terrace. The black pearl select from LANDMANN stands for high quality, variety and convenience. It is fitted with the OptiHeat system to position the grill at various heights. A world exclusive for bowl barbecues with a guarantee of first-class barbecuing results.

More and more barbecue enthusiasts find it important to use a brand-named unit when barbecuing with charcoal. Optically, the "select" stands out from the crowd from the start. The brushed stainless steel trims clearly show where the barbecue comes from. Two high-quality side tables made of wood and metal, including cup holders provide sufficient space for preparation and storage of ingredients. Of course they are foldable, so storing the "select" after use saves space. The optional weatherproof lid keeps the black pearl "select" protected from rain or sun.

LANDMANN's black pearl select is standard-fitted with the OptiHeat system. Its advantages are plain to see: optimal temperature control when grilling barbecue food directly. The grill's three height positions make achieving the right temperature easy at all times. Handling is simple and intuitive. Ergonomically-shaped handles also simplify raising and lowering. Simply turn and set the grill in the pre-set grooves to adjust to any one of three positions.

The LANDMANN black pearl select has more practical features. The enameled coal grate and fire-bowl are quick and easy to clean. That also applies to the large ash pan for easy disposal of ash and cinders. The lid – also enameled – is fitted with a thermometer, so the chef is always aware of the exact temperature.

The ventilation slit for optimal regulation of the oxygen supply is also found there, supported by the enameled chimney. A heat shield under the handle on the lid ensures the hand is always in a safe area. A practical cutlery holder is positioned on the outside of the barbecue. A coal divider supports indirect grilling.

For a spontaneous family evening meal or a surprise visit from friends – the 56-centimetre grill area is more than adequate for hungry barbecue lovers.

And, when the barbecue is over, the black pearl select can be moved back quickly and easily to any place. Its rubberized wheels ensure comfortable operating features.

LANDMANN has designed and sold high quality and user-friendly barbecues and lifestyle products for the garden for more than 40 years.

The black pearl select from LANDMANN is available from good hardware stores and garden centres for 279.- euros.
